"Recently commissioned Grantly to come in and take some photos of the leadership team. The whole process was 'no nonsense' from beginning to end. He arrived in plenty time, followed the brief perfectly and we are very pleased with the results. Feedback from the directors was that after brief guidance from Grantly, they forgot he was there allow them to relax whilst he blended into the background and took his pictures. I would definitely work with Grantly again."

"We engaged Grantly to provide us with the key photographs to represent the College, and in particular our students, for our 2012-13 prospectus. He responded sympathetically to the brief and produced a stunning array of photographs for us to choose from, including the front cover master shot. Grantly's artistic skills are evident in his impressive portfolio of work. The photographs he offered us capture everything we want to show about our students' learning, enjoyment and achievements. Grantly works unobtrusively and his photographs, even in portrait situations, look entirely natural. Our challenge was in what to leave out - we have a library of wonderful images to draw upon for the next year and a half, at least. Grantly is a highly skilled and creative practitioner. I recommend him to your organization unreservedly. You will not be disappointed with the outcome. Jon Marks, Assistant Principal"

The images taken by Grantly captured perfectly my style and personality. So much so that I have been very happy to use the images in promotional material and websites. Grantly was very professional, polite and discreet while I was speaking and I actually forgot he was there. "Grantly is simply the best corporate 'portrait' photographer I have come across in my 26 years in business. — S D, was Grantly's client

"Really impressed with the photos taken at our Plato and Mentor-net Conference last week. Seriously excellent work in what can be a rather difficult environment to get good and interesting pictures. Thanks Grantly, we're looking for other opportunities to use your talent!"

"The main thing about Grants work that I never cease to be impressed with, is that no matter how seemingly unpromising the situation, a very average looking office, a busy factory, Grant always delivers pictures of people that are fresh, insightful and contemporary. He can make ordinary people and mundane settings look special. Although I normally prefer to art direct, with Grant I can trust him not to be too indulgent and to always come back with on brief, commercially relevant and effective images. I also love some of his private work, particularly the more impressionistic shots of people when he uses light to great effect. An unassuming nice bloke too."
